nently favourable report Mr. LISTER 1876, compared with the previous year, of $11,725.03. But for this considerable decrease he can readily account. About half of it-was due to loss on exchange in remitting to England, a portion to the reduction in the local postage rates, and the remainder to the competition of the American and Japanese Post Offices in Shanghai, Han, flow, and the ports of Japan. These rival offices have, it seems, been offering communication with Europe and America for a rate of five pence on letters not much more than a third of that charged viz Brindisi or Marseilles. Naturally these low rates induced residents in the North and in Japan to send their letters vid San Francisco, in preference to the Suez route awore especially since the difference in time is always, trifling, and has sometimes even been in favour of the American line. In Yokohama alone, Mr. Lasten tells us, nearly ten thousand letters and six thousand papers less were posted for the Suez route last year than in 1875. No wonder, therefore, that there has been a decline in the revenue. Part of it was quite unavoidable, and that arising from the lower. ing of the local postage rates is certainly not to be regretted. The charges to the ports of China and Japan and to Cochin China, Siam, and the Philippines were reduced by one-half, brought down to two tents. The loss from this source is trivial and should not come some satisfaction to recover a portion of the correspondence lost owing to the competition ximo it will be possible to send from thence letters by the Suez route for sixpence, only one panny more than by way of San Francisco, and this will no doubt tend not but also to divert much of the correspondence back to the old channel. The new Post-Office Ordinance, which has been framed with a view to lessen the outgoings of the Department, will come into force soon, and will, it is to be hoped, have its intended effect. But there can be no doubt that the current year will see a further diminution of profit in the working of the Department, and may even in addition to that usually found in works of the witness a slight loss. It is to be bopod that the increase in its business, The larger Directory contains the different an improvement in exchange, will serve Treaties and Conventions made by China and to avert such a contingency. A Californian contemporary gives the following :- James O. Woodruff, a wealthy merchant of Indianapolis, is organizing a university exoussion around the world, and is now in New York looking for a vessel. It is proposed to engage a steamship of 1,000 tons burden, fitted out with staterooms and saloons for study, work and lectures, and provided with steam-leanches, and a large number of boats. It will be commanded by experienced officers and a trained orew, and will set out from New York early in July on a two veurs' croise. The vessel will be supplied with a large library and ample scientific apparatus. Provision will be made for the accommodation of from nixty to nighty students, who will be accompanied by a faculty of ten profesgors. The whole distance to be travelled is restimated at 50,000 miles, and among the places. to be visited at Hayana, Valparaigo, Australia, Hougkong, Onloutes, the Holy Land, Pompeii, Gibraltar, London, and the Azores.

THE POSTMASTER-GENERAL'S REPORT The following report of the Postmasterday's Gasotte for general information :--General Post Office. Hongkong, March 23rd, 1877.

British Postal Service in China and Japan during 1876. 2.—The past year has witnessed preparation for, and in some cases the completion of impertant changes, chiefly the entrance of this Colony into the General Postal Union, and the voting of an annual contribution of £3,150 from Postul Revenue towards the conveyance of Mails. But, with the exception of some minor details, the Union arrangements are not as yet complete. They will commence on April lat. United Kingdom via Brindisi and Maraeilles

AN INDIAN PERFORMER

ensitive to the influence of prophets, and one of the most notable of these is a sexagenarian aimed Smubballe, belonging to the Wallawalla ribe on Middle Columbia River, who has been listurbing the untutored Indian mind for several years past, and of whom an interesting account is given by the Nation. Spribballe was origioally a medicine man of his own Oregoniau ribe. In the pursuit of his calling he met a thorough biblical scholer, and improved so much by his tonching that he started on his own account as an Indian prophet, and went about disseminating his doctrine by speeches, discussions, and demonstrations. The gist of this doctrine was the love of our fellowmen and the complete return of the "old happy state" of the Indians before the advent of the white race. His followers constituted themselves a propagandist acciety about the year 1862, and he soon gained a reputation among the tribes on the Columbia as a reformer, a public-benefactor, and-a-presumptive redeemer from the foreign yoke. Although his disciples are generally considered as "aniart impostors" by the white settlers. Smuhhaile himself does ful public servant, who died at Singapore. 21,000 to add to the endowment of the living of bot deserve this epithef. Like Mahoumed, he promises multiple conjugal felicity to ois followers, and is himself blessed with five wives. His sectaries pledge themselves to maintain and spread the doctrine even after his death, and they distinguish themselves from other Indiane by decorating themselves with two black dashes on each cheek, with one white dash or strong intervening. The belief in Smathallo will, in their opinion, eventually bring the country into their own undisputed. possession. They unite three times every day for worship. This movement is, it is stated. rapidly eprending, and many tribes of the Columbia Basin, from the Klamath Liakes to the Upper Columbia, bave joined the sect wholly or partially. Smulballe does not leave his own camp, which is in Rapids du Pré on the Columbia River, but preaches there his dostrine with the emphasis, imagery, and volubility so well known in Indian discourses. The recent dissatisfaction observed among the Nez-Perces Indiane, a numerous tribe residing on the Oregon and Idaho reservations, is mainly would be increased to five shillings. -Cunch. COINCIDENCES IN DATES. Regarding some of the French sovereigns who flourished several centuries ago, the crotobetmongors have discovered, in four cases. at any rate, a numerical connection between on the other the sum of the digits in special Louis IX, was born in 1215; the sum of these 1402; the sum of these digits is seven. Louis XIL was born in 1461; the sum of these digits is twelve. Lastly, Louis XIV. was crowned. in 1643, a date the digits of which sum up to fourteen. In regard to an intermediate sovereign, Louis XIII, the accumulation of coincidences, so to speak, is really very ourious. We must first remind the reader that in the old court language of France "Louis" was spelled "Love," that this king's French Chris tinu and surnames were "Loys de Bourbon." and that those of his queen were "Anne "Autriche." The figures came out thus-Louis XIII. married Anne of Austria in 1615; the sum of these four digits is thirteen; "Loys do Bourbon "comprises thirteen letters, and so does "Anne d'Autriche;" the boy-king thirteenth Louis of France, and she the thirteenth Anne of Austria, - Chambers's

TEARS. Properly handled, tears are the most efficient weapons a woman ean wield, her arms of defence as well as of attack. With tears she can ward off any blow, and vanquish all resistance. Whatever may be her object in life,—or for the moment,—a new dress, for example, or a carriage and pair, or an operabox, or a husband, there is nothing so wellfitted to accomplish it as a judicious tears, -a tear in season. In court ship especially, —when the weer as unfortunately sometimes happens. is slow to come to the point, a tear will often t we may use so vulgar an expression, "bring him up to the scratch" when nothing else will But in this department of weeping, ladies will be pleased to remember that punctuality is everything. The tear must be shed in the nick of time. Some ladies weep too soon, and thus quench the nascent spark before it has burst into flame; others too late, when it has lickered and gone out. The art is to catch the happy mean, to weep when the iron is hot. Thus many a busband-bas been caught who would otherwise be wandering tancy free, or, perhaps, married to another woman.
